

We hope you enjoy hunting around the village to solve the Jubilee riddle. Feel free to visit each clue in any order but the suggested route is as follows...

One will say a little prayer that the riddle will begin to be solved here.

One does love this elevated viewpoint of the boats chugging through - when one was small they carried all kinds of finery.

One loves eating in this establishment by the canal - it's most welcoming. All the boats moor up here.

One can go here to do lots of activities. One especially loves the theatre shows and evening dinner dances.

If one is feeling a little 'off colour', one might pay this place a visit.

Lord Baden Powell is in charge here and is a guiding light.

One might go here to post one's letter or pick a daisy or two.

One must wear one's crown but be careful not to get bowled over with excitement when looking for this clue!

One enjoys walking one's corgis here by the stream but one must watch out for the rabbits!

One bought one's butter here many years ago to go with ones afternoon tea.

One might stop here for a sort of fine supper with the family.

At every clue you will find a letter which you can write in the boxes above. Once you have found every letter, re-arrange them to find the answer to our Jubilee riddle! Good luck!
